

Alexia S. Quadrani
Executive Vice President, Investor Relations
The Walt Disney Company

Alexia S. Quadrani is Executive Vice President, Investor Relations, The Walt Disney Company. In this role, she serves as Disney's information liaison to the global investment community and a key advisor and resource to the Company's senior management team. Ms. Quadrani is responsible for expanding the Company's relationships with sell-side and buy-side investment analysts, industry analysts, and investors worldwide. She also provides input on the Company's financial reporting activities, manages stock share administration, and leads ongoing engagement with the governance community and Environmental, Social, and Governance (ESG) focused investors.

Prior to joining Disney, Ms. Quadrani served as Managing Director and Senior Analyst for J.P. Morgan's U.S. Media Equity Research group since 2008. While at the firm, her coverage included entertainment, advertising and video game stocks. Ms. Quadrani joined J.P. Morgan through its merger with Bear Stearns, where she had served as Senior Managing Director since 1997. She was an Institutional Investor-ranked analyst for over 20 years.

Ms. Quadrani holds an MBA in finance from New York University's Stern School of Business and a BS from the School of Foreign Service at Georgetown University.